FALL 1932

The Daffodil Farm

L. Auratum Platyphyllum

WALTER R. TAYLOR

Olympia, Wash., Route No. 4

The time for planting such bulbs as Iris, Lilies, Narcissus, Tulips and others, will soon be here. We hope people will not be too busy looking around corners for prosperity, or trying to reconcile political speeches with facts, to keep up with their flower gardens.

Our bulb crops will be of fine quality, and more of them than ever before. Many varieties not offered by us before will be listed. Prices on many items, especially lilies are reduced, but on Narcissus, if we send you good sized bulbs as we will, there is a limit. These bulbs are so bulky and heavy transportation costs are high. You want good bulbs and we are sure you are willing to pay a reasonable living price. Perhaps this matter should not be brot up but facts might as well be faced. When we pay little or buy bargains we get little or, often less.

In spite of hard times the past year our list of customers increased twenty-five per cent, and if volume of inquiries mean anything we will do even better this season.

LILIES

If you start growing lilies you will not be satisfied until you have a long list of varieties. Printed descriptions are futile for they must be seen to realize their stately beauty and the range of color and variety is so great that continuous bloom may be had from early summer till late fall.

Most lilies like full sun and also most of them will do well in partial shade; especially if they can have the morning sun and if not planted under trees or large bushes that have heavy root systems. Too much crowding or shade will cause short spindly stems with little or no bloom. Well drained and well worked soil, reasonably fertile and containing plenty humus is desirable. Large bulbs of most varieties may be set six inches deep, which depth we believe is plenty, tho in cold climates they may need mulching for winter protection. Small bulblets should not be set much over three inches deep. Such varieties as Candidum, Pardainum, Roezli and Superbum may be set about four inches deep. Do not set large bulbs on their sides, set them straight up.

Lilies may be set in rows, borders or beds. Three or more bulbs of a variety set in a cluster make a fine showing, tho bulbs should have six or eight inches clearance on all sides. Large bulbs may need dividing after three years, being dug in the fall when tops mature and replanted in a new location.

LILY PRICE LIST

ALL PRICES PREPAID. Good strong bulbs. grown by us, that will please you. 6 at 12 rate: 25 at 100 rate.

AURATUM PLATYPHYLLUM—Improved strain of the common Auratum or gold banded lily of Japan. This is about the most attractive lily grown, with spikes 3 to 6 feet tall, and will make ten feet when well established. Blossoms are very large, August and September. 40c each; $4. per 12; medium size, 25c each; $2.50 per 12. Bulblets, 12 for 45c; 50 for $1.50.

BOLANDERI—A very rare lily, medium height, with bell-shaped deep crimson flowers dotted purple. 50 cents each; $4.00 for 12.

BROWNI COLCHESTERENSE—A beautiful strain of the Browni lily. While very similar to Odorum is not so offensively fragrant as the latter and with us is more certain to give good results. This lily is very scarce in this country, seldom being listed. Quite hardy, slender foliage with a cluster of very large trumpet shaped bloom, pure shiny white inside with yellow throat and quite brownish outside. July blooming. October to May delivery. 75 each; 12 for $7.50. Medium size, 50 cents each, 12 for $5.00.

CANDIDUM—Madonna or St. Joseph lily, and well known. Pure white fragrant flowers, generally hardy. Makes fall top growth and must be planted in early fall, August being the best month but can supply during September. Plant shallow. Blooms in June or July.

FORCING BULBS

For those who wish to force narcissus, tulips and lily bulbs in the house, there should be no trouble if you have well grown bulbs to pot in good garden soil, in September—October may do. Place pot and all outside in the ground till freezing weather then place in a cellar or a cool dark place till top growth shows then bring into the light and heat, at which time they should be well rooted. If forced before well rooted the buds are sure to blast before opening.

NARCISSUS

For early and hardy spring flowers there is none that will add more cheer and beauty to your garden than Narcissus or Daffodils, as you wish to call them. If you have been growing only the old and common sorts you have a great surprise coming if you will try some of the many varieties here listed, from the large trumpet varieties to the smaller cluster types.

Such varieties as Lucifer and Will Scarlet with red cups are exceedingly beautiful and attractive, and among the long list of large trumpets King Alfred and Van Waveren's Giant are outstanding. Then in between these two extremes are Emperor, Empress, Spring Glory, Olympia, Elvira, Lorens Koster and Orange and Primrose Phoenix.

While narcissus may be planted as late as November we strongly urge you to plant in September. Years of experience show us this to be the best month, for planted then they will be well rooted before cold weather, which should insure good bloom the following spring. Therefore we will supply bulbs from August to November first only.

Set large bulbs with 5 to 6 inches of soil on top of bulbs. In beds or rows they should be given a minimum of 6 inches between bulbs and may be left two or three years when they should need dividing, which can be done when tops die down and kept in a cool ventilated place till September. Any good, well drained soil should do well. If you are blessed with a soil rich in humus and other necessary elements you need not worry about fertility, otherwise manure or a complete chemical fertilizer may be used as a top dressing and allowed to leach down with perfect safety.

All our stock has been carefully treated to comply with Government regulations, and all stock will be state inspected. You will receive clean, solid and disease-free bulbs, honestly graded as to size.

We start digging in mid July and begin shipping bulbs late August.

TULIPS

As this is being written we expect to have the nicest crop of tulip bulbs we have ever had. Surely there is no group of flowers that adds more cheer and color to a garden than tulips.

Should be planted in September and not later than October, in soil well drained and quite fertile. If necessary apply any fertilizing element as a top dressing to leach down with fall rains. Plant large bulbs 4 to 6 inches deep according to soil, in rows or beds, or in borders, bulbs being 6 inches apart. We dig our tulips every year when the tops die, and store in a cool shady place till September for replanting.

We start digging late in June and begin shipping about middle July and quit October 1st, and any stock left at that time is replanted. Good blooming sized bulbs.

PRICES PREPAID. 6 at 12 rate; 25 at 100 rate.

Following varieties are 10c each; 60c per dozen.

ALLARD PIERSON—A Darwin and one of the best forcing and certainly one of the most beautiful, being a dark velvety red. A fine cut flower, and equally good outside. Extra early and tall. $4.50 per 100. Smaller blooming size, 40 per doz.; $3.00 per 100.
